- Daisy: So, our first chef is Alfie. Alfie, let's see your ingredients.
- Alfie: OK, well, I've got a lemon, an apple and some garlic, some butter and some chicken breasts ... livers! Ah, chicken livers!
- Daisy: Mmm ... chicken livers ... an unusual choice. Are you feeling confident?
- Alfie: Well, sort of. It's a challenge!
- Daisy: OK ... now to Oliver. Hi, Oliver.
- Oliver: Hello.
- Daisy: What ingredients have you got, Oliver?
- Oliver: OK, well I've got a steak, some red chilli peppers, some potatoes, cream, onions and some giant prawns.
- Daisy: Wow – an interesting selection. How do you feel about the competition?
- Oliver: I'm pretty confident. I mean ... steak and prawns, or chicken livers ... I know which I prefer!
- Daisy: OK, well, we'll be back later.
- Mum: Hi, love.
- Daisy: Hi, Mum. Where are you?
- Mum: At the airport. What's going on there?
- Daisy: Well, right now Alfie and Ollie are having their Master Chef cooking competition.
- Daisy: Only 53 minutes left!
- Mum: OK, love, see you soon.
- Daisy: Bye, Mum – if you're lucky, you'll arrive home in time to taste the dishes!
- Mum: Hmm ... shall I bring some fish and chips just in case?
- Daisy: Let's taste the pâté first, Mum.
- Mum: OK, it smells and looks delicious!
- Oliver: OK, OK. Try it first, judges. It's all in the taste.
- Daisy / Mum: Ooooooh, that's amazing!
- Mum: Mmmm! I could eat it all!
- Alfie: Wow, thanks Sophie!
- Oliver: OK, leave some space for my dish!
- Daisy: Mmmm ... it's tasty ... whoa! How many chili peppers?
- Mum: Wow, it's good, Oliver! It's a taste of Thailand! It's going to be a difficult decision.
- Mum / Daisy: This year's Master Chef champion is ...
