

Transcript for Zara

Teacher: Zara. I've noticed that you haven't selected travel journalism as one of your study options.

Zara: I need to speak to my mum.

Teacher: Would you like me to speak to her?

Zara: Good luck catching her, Miss.

Zara: But I want to travel and write about it!

Mum: I don't have time for it, Zara. That's it. End of discussion. Hello.

Friend: Hey. I've been looking for you.

Zara: I tried talking to my mum about my options.

Friend: And?

Zara: She's always got a meeting or something.

Friend: You should book a meeting with her.

Zara: (Laughing) Hey, let me borrow your phone.

Mum: Zara! What are you doing here? I've got a meeting!

Zara: Yes. It's with me. I want to travel the world and I want to write about it. I'm good at it!

Mum: You know what? When you are married and have your own family, your husband will decide.

Zara: My teacher's recommended me because of how well I'm doing. If you listened then you would already know.

Mum: You have to think about your future.

Zara: I am. You just want to get me off your hands.

Mum: Zara? Zara! So, tell me about this.

Zara: Really?

Mum: Yes.

This film was created by Into Film, an organisation that uses film and media production to develop skills in young people in the UK. To watch more great films, have a look at their website: <http://www.intofilm.org/>